A FISH-STORY.

A FISH-STORY.

Mr. M. B. Pollock, of this county, comes to the front with a "fish-story." which, he claims, will "lay in the shade" the "yarns" reported from Cob's Island last week. In describing the "terrible" sharks recently captured in the Potomac, near here, Mr. Pollock says that one of them contained in its stomach two human skeletons, two pairs of gumboots, two tarpaulin-hats, and a silver watch—the remains of two sailors or fishermen swallowed long ago by the shark. These "articles," being "indigestable," remained ago by the shark. These "ar-ticles," being "indigestable," remained in a "corner" of the big fish's stomach. This "bess fish-story" was accepted for the press on conditions that the Dispatch correspondent would not vouch for the uracy of it. fr. O. W. Clare, of this place, several days ago summoned to the bedside of his brother, Mr. W. H. Clare, at Saluda, Middlesex county, the latter being so critically ill that the physicians have despaired of his life. Those who have visited the scene of the smoke and strife of battle. They are disciples of Chesterfield' in deportment, intelligent, and entertaining in the superlative degree.

Last week I inadvertently remarked in my letter that they had passed the three-score and ten-mile post on the journey of life. When Colonel A.'s keen, dark eye caught this line he became nervous, and daintily lifting his gold-rimmed sportacles on his brow, beckened to Colonel B., and pointed out the cause of his agitation, remarking, at the same time: B., and pointed out the cause of his agitation, remarking, at the same time: "We are ruined by this fellow. He has impertinently given our ages to the public; our lady friends were beginning to show some appreciation of our talents, but now, I fear, they will abandon us." Colonel B. stood very erect, and looked like a grenadier, as he remarked: "O, Colonel A., the statement made by that fellow cuts no figure with me, for you know none of the young men dare follow me in my daily walk of five rules. I keep up with them in the dance, and at whist I can vanquish the best." As Colonel A. is not a pedestrian, and neither dances nor plays cards, he regarded the colonel A, is not a potestrian, and neigher dances nor plays cards, he regarded the remark of Colonel B, as an unfavorable comparison with himself. He, therefore, haughtily drew his sword of sarcasm, while his eyes flashed defiance, as he said: "Colonel B,, this correspondent did not know you are an octogenarian; otherwise, he would not have classed me along with you in age." Colonel B. along with you in age." Colonel B. smiled, and whispered a word of comfort into the deaf ear of Colonel A, as they walked off, meditating summary revenge upon your unfortunate correspond-

NEW YORK, August 8.-The volume of business during the short session of the Stock Exchange to-day was by no means large; still, at intervals the depression was quite pronounced. At the opening the market was adversely affected by lower cables from London, and the active list fell about 1 per cent. The decline induced extensive purchases to cover short contracts, and a sharp rally of 1-4021-4 per cent, followed, Suga. led the advance, selling up from 66 to 931-4. The improvement in the general list ranged from 1-2 to 13-4 per cent. and was well distributed. Before the expiration of the first hour, however, the selling was renewed on a heavy scale, and the gains previously noted were not only wiped out, but some of the standard stocks sustained severe losses. The selling pressure was most pronounced after the publication of the bank statement. The statement showed a contraction in loans and an enormous loss in legal tenders. The reduction in the surplus reserve to below $14,000,000 encourages the belief that rates for money will be higher in the immediate future. This, of course, will operate against the bulls in stocks. s the belief that rates for mo

The absence of failures at the Stock Exchange, considering the great shrinkage in values of late, was the subject of much discussion. Brokers generally are in good chape, and there will be no trouble unless the banks should advance interest-rates to very much higher trouble unless the banks should advance interest-rates to very much higher figures than those now prevailing. In the final dealings a few stocks recovered fractionally from the low point of the morning, but speculation was feverish and unsettled. The net changes show losses of 1-4-63 per cent. The total sales were 126,432 shares, including 21,600 Sugar, 17,600 St. Paul, and 10,800 Western Union.

THE BANK STATEMENT.

The weekly statement of the Associated The weekly statement of the Associated Banks shows the following changes: Re-serve, decrease, $3,913,025; loans, de-crease, $1,498,300; specie, increase, $21,190; legal tenders, decrease, $5,195,500; deposits, decrease, $7,859,500; circulation, increase, The banks now hold $13,815,575 in excess

The banks now hold $13,815,575 in excess of legal requirements.

The New York Financier says this week: The statement of the Clearing-House banks of New York city for the week ending August 8th shows a continued decrease in the principal items, the contraction in loans, amounting to $1,685, 750, was to have been expected, in view of the influences which have precalled during the week, but the amount of the contraction was gratifyingly small, when the circumstances are taken into consideration. The principal loss of the week was in deposits, which fell off $1,845,500$. At first sight this appears out of proportion to the other changes, but a great deal of cash has gone out of the New York banks to the West during the week—a greater amount, in fact, than would have been the case under more normal conditions. Chicago—called for large balances, and the demand from southern and western points was heavy. The movement in cash toward the interior was therefore heavy, and greatly overbalanced the interior receipts.

The exact loss on this account cannot be stated definitely, but enough is known to show that the withdrawals represented legitimate business demands rather than withdrawals caused by sentimental fears.

The loss in cash, according to the statement, was $5,375,400, the decrease of $5,166,500 in legal-tenders being offset to a slight extent by a gain of $231,200 in specie, which probably represents the purchase of bullion certificates.

The leans of the New York banks are now down to $465,007,600, a loss of $3,000,000 since July 3d. The total, however, is nearly $45,000,000 less than at this time last year, and it is worthy of mention that nearly $43,090,000 less than at this time last year, and it is worthy of mention that while loans were expanding last year at the rate of about $2,000,000 a week, they are now contracting steadily. The New York banks' total holdings of cash are now $5,000,000 under the low point touched on March 20th last, but the excess cash stands $400,000 higher than at that time. As a whole, the slatement was better than had been expected.

avenue, New York, the well-known Armenian gentleman whose intelligent efforts on behalf of his countrymen are readily remembered, writes, November 19, 1895: "I had been suffering with indigestion for months. My food would distress me, and many nights would I pass sleepless with an overladen stomach. As a rule, I did not have much faith in patent medicines, but I had heard recently so much about Ripans Tabules that I thought I would give them a trial. I took one after each meal, and on the second day I already began to feel that it was helping me. Therefore, I continued to take them faithfully until I used up a whole box. Not only did it entirely cure me of my indigestion, but my appetite has so improved since that it is causing much content and pleasure to the other members of my family. As to myself, I do not hesitate a moment to state here that Ripans Tabules are a wonderful remedy for such trouble of the stomach as I had, and now I always have some in the house for the use of the family in case of need; and I also shall recommend them to my friends, whenever I have the opportunity.' Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price 60 cents a bex) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Com-pany, No. 10 Spruce street, New York, Sample vial, 10 cents.
